Dear Bill:

I would like to express my personal appreciation for the time you took from your busy schedule to see Mr. William O. Cregar on the morning of August 1, 1975, on a matter of concern to both your Agency and this Bureau.

In addition, the timely cooperation extended to representatives of this Bureau by [redacted] of your Agency resulted in the location of some extremely valuable material of vital importance to a case having significant prosecutive merit.

The manner in which you and [redacted] responded to a rather hurried call for assistance and the results produced are gratifying and I wanted you to have my personal thanks for both [redacted] and your help.

Association of Retired Intelligence Officers

P. O. Box 34320, Bethesda, Maryland 20034 • Telephone (301) 365-0527

Dear Member or Applicant:

In the weeks following the initial proposition to form a retired intelligence officers organization, a few Washington-based members have been meeting to discuss the question of formally establishing the Association of Retired Intelligence Officers (ARIO). In addition, a statement of purpose was formulated. The results are outlined below, and we do solicit your reaction to each of the items - especially the "Precepts" since they will tend to determine the character of our organization.

PURPOSE

Social amenities for the membership aside, ARIO's purpose should focus solely on public service in our area of unique and special competence: intelligence. And, at the moment, several issues seem particularly appropriate for ARIO's attention:

- Placing C.I.A. in a rational perspective.

There is no point in glossing over the fact that misunderstanding is a natural by-product when a traditionally open society confronts the secrecy in which an intelligence service must be shrouded. Part of the problem is a consequence of lack of public knowledge; part is the result of speculation, often combined with kernels of truth, and part is spawned by pure fancy and sensationalism. Our fundamental task should be to define, as candidly and openly as we can, what C.I.A. is (and its intelligence activity) - and at least equally important - what it is not.

- Maintaining a first class American intelligence capability.

Public concern over the rash of sensationalism and exposés involving United States intelligence has generated a number of suggestions for "corralling" C.I.A. They range from abolishing C.I.A. through elimination of all intelligence operations to outlawing covert political action while retaining the intelligence collection and counterintelligence functions. Some form of tighter Congressional oversight is implicit in nearly all these proposals. Our aim here should be to emphasize that, whatever form the resolution of this issue takes, the United States in today's world cannot afford any less than the assurance of a first class intelligence capability; nor should the United States be deprived of the ability to apply covert political action in very special situations.

ORGANIZATION

The response to our original survey (directed to about 400 retired intelligence officers) was overwhelming: 225 membership applications, over $3,000 in dues and contributions, and the vast majority of respondents unstinting in their willingness to contribute time and talent to ARIO.

It was soon apparent that an ad hoc executive committee was needed to manage the burgeoning affairs of ARIO and to sort out the details of converting ARIO into a formal organization. That committee consists of founding members, among others, Messrs. James E. Flannery, Samuel Halpern, John R. Horton, Wallace A. Mills, and me. It will serve only until an organizing convention can be convoked sometime in the fall of this year at which time by-laws can be adopted, officers elected, activities reviewed and a program for the coming year approved.

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED
HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED
DATE 11/26/01 BY 60322/CL/KAL/STW

ENCLOSURE

In the meantime, the committee feels we can best cope with the problems of ARIO's development through a system of small sub-committees initially covering the following areas:

By-laws
Membership and Finance
Speakers
Publication
Research

And, we are in the process of forming these sub-committees.

After the sub-committees are functioning we intend to organize ARIO regional committees whose job would be to act as local clearing houses for requests for speakers, panel participants, articles, and information. To backstop the regional committees, we will develop a speaker's kit, prepare articles, and provide research support which will be limited but able to meet most special needs for data and facts.

PRECEPTS

Given the distemper of the times, ARIO's raison d'etre could easily be misconstrued and may well be anyway, no matter what is said or done. Nonetheless, an effort to define at the outset how we hope to conduct ourselves as an organization may be useful. We will:

- avoid political partisanship or involvement of any kind.
- preclude any relationship that could infer ARIO is sponsored, assisted, or otherwise tied to C.I.A. (and this without being at all apologetic or deferential about having enjoyed a good and full career with C.I.A. or any other United States government agency).
- make clear that we are not in the business of disclosing national security, secret, or privileged information. If, for this reason, we cannot discuss a topic or go any further in elaborating on it, we will simply say so. Conversely, this factor permitting, we will not dodge an explanation or answer because it would be embarrassing.
- recognize that the subject matter is difficult enough to discuss without getting hung up on polemics, prejudice, or personalities. Similarly, we intend to leave recriminations, shouting contests, and similar indulgences to others. Our purpose is to explain and clarify rationally.

We plan to publish our first bulletin in the near future and, while we are not certain about the exact format, we will include a list of ARIO-related activities already undertaken and those scheduled. At the same time, since we have to run our own press clipping service, it would be helpful if members would mail to us any clippings on ARIO or intelligence related activities appearing in local or other publications to which we would not have ready access in Washington, D.C.

Finally, a reminder that we would appreciate ideas we could consider as well as your comments and recommendations on points raised in this letter. If not already submitted, we remain interested in the names and addresses of former intelligence personnel you think might want to join ARIO. (We welcome applications from any professional who has worked in American intelligence in any service, regardless of title or function).

Cordially,

David Atlee Phillips

Subsection 6(g) (1) (B) of captioned bill reads as follows:

"(g) (1) Nothing in this or any other Act shall be construed as authorizing the Central Intelligence Agency to--

"(B) provide assistance of any kind, directly or indirectly, to any other department or agency of the Federal Government, to any department or agency of any State or local government, or to any officer or employee of any such department or agency engaged in policy or policy-type operations or activities, law enforcement operations or activities, or internal security operations or activities within the United States unless such assistance is provided with the prior, specific written approval of the President and of the Central Intelligence Agency oversight subcommittees of the Committees on Appropriations and the Committees on Armed Services of the Senate and the House of Representatives."

If enacted, captioned legislation could adversely affect our relationships with CIA, particularly those which concern certain special coverages in the counterintelligence field.

RECOMMENDATION:

SUBJECT: APPEARANCE OF FBI PERSONNEL AT CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY (CIA) COURSE

(S) [redacted] requested the appearance of qualified FBI personnel to lecture to CIA's [redacted] Course. If provided, the FBI will be slated for Friday, 11/14/75, from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon

(S) [redacted] noted that previous FBI lectures given in a panel setting have met with excellent student approval.

He has been most cooperative in selecting excellent CIA speakers for various courses run by Training Unit. Twice he has been commended by letters from the Director for his contribution to FBI training courses.

It is recommended that a panel composed of Supervisors [redacted] lecture to CIA's [redacted] personnel.

RECOMMENDATION:

That Supervisors [redacted] compose the FBI group to lecture to CIA personnel.

On 11/20/75, [redacted]

[redacted] telephonically inquired if Mr. William O. Cregar of the Intelligence Division and the Bureau's alternate member on the U. S. Intelligence Board (USIB) could speak to [redacted] on Monday, 12/1/75, between the hours of 3:00 and 4:30 p.m.

(S) Mr. Cregar has appeared bimonthly before [redacted] for the last several years. The lecture would be confined to a presentation of the Bureau's structure, its jurisdiction in the foreign intelligence field, as well as the role the FBI plays in the intelligence community. The formal presentation will be followed by a question and answer period.

Over the years this presentation has proven very useful in that it clarifies for CIA personnel the Bureau's jurisdiction, its responsibilities in the foreign intelligence field, as well as what role the Bureau plays in the intelligence community.

ACTION: If approved, Mr. Cregar will handle the lecture and telephonically advise [redacted] of his acceptance. (c)

On 1-23-76, the Senate Committee on Government Operations continued its hearings on legislation proposing the establishment of a committee to oversee the intelligence functions of the government. Witnesses were William Colby, Director, Central Intelligence Agency, and McGeorge Bundy, former Special Assistant to the President for National Security. The hearings were open and a representative of the Office of Congressional Affairs was in attendance.

In expressing his views concerning oversight legislation, Colby noted that all of the secret projects about which the CIA has briefed Congressional committees in the past few months have been leaked to the press. He suggested the number of the Members of Congress who receive CIA briefings be restricted. Colby stressed the need to protect the identity of Agents, observing that there did not seem to be any need for Congress to have that information. Colby was of the view that recent Congressional investigations of the CIA have had an adverse impact on the Agency because the investigations have given an erroneous impression to the public of the nature of the Agency. This is the result, Colby thought, of the investigations centering on a small portion of CIA activities, and is also the result of the public learning solely of a few misdeeds. With respect to a requirement that the Agency give prior notice to the Congress before engaging in covert operations, Colby raised the constitutional issue of whether such a requirement would intrude impermissibly on the power of the Executive. Furthermore, he noted the requirement would be impractical when Congress was in recess, and apparently would add nothing to Congress' ability to express its views. He noted that covert activities are continuing efforts and are not comprised of single, isolated steps.

During the question and answer period, several areas of interest were expressed.

Legal Counsel to Mr. Adams Memo
Re: Senate Committee on Government
Operations

Senator Ribicoff asked if an oversight committee should be established during this Session of Congress. The Chairman also wanted to know what would happen if an oversight committee learned of a proposed activity only a few days before it was scheduled to begin and the committee opposed the activity.

Senator Percy was interested in knowing if there were any CIA activities which Mr. Colby did not know about. Percy asked what percentage of Colby's time was devoted to testifying before Congress and in preparing for such testimony, and what percentage of time Colby thought should be so spent.

Senator Nunn asked Mr. Colby how he interpreted the "timely notice" statutory requirement.

Colby stated the CIA notifies the staffs of the six Congressional committees immediately that the President has made a determination that the proposed activities be conducted. He said a review of the legislative history of the Foreign Assistance Act reveals that the idea of prior notice was considered and rejected with the timely notice requirement adopted instead.

During the exchange of views which followed this question, some sentiment was expressed for separate oversight committees for foreign and domestic activities.

Senator Brock asked Colby's views on guarding against leaks from the Members of Congress.

Senator Glenn asked for Mr. Colby to assist the Committee in "pinning down" what the committee will oversee; that is, where are decisions made and what are the proper contacts between the Agency and Congress.

Senator Javits asked about legal procedures for tightening leaks by government employees. Colby stated there is a legislative proposal dealing with that problem under review by the Department of Justice. He thought it will be submitted to Congress soon.

CONTINUED - OVER

Legal Counsel to Mr. Adams Memo
Operations

Senator Javits stressed that Senators and Congressmen must have intelligence information to legislate effectively. He cited, for example, how important it is for the Senate to have intelligence about the Panama Canal Zone as it considers legislation and/or treaties concerning the Canal. He asked how Congress would obtain that information. Colby responded that the CIA gives Congress briefings on request.

Mr. Bundy devoted his remarks almost exclusively to the area of foreign covert operations. Senator Javits again expressed the theme that oversight legislation should do more than endeavor to establish Congress as a policeman. It should establish some method for providing intelligence information to Congress so it can legislate intelligently. He asked Mr. Bundy how Congress could get that information.

Bundy thought the intelligence agencies should do more than agree to brief Congress on demand. He suggested one answer might be increasing the size of that part of the intelligence agencies which respond to Congressional inquiries.

Mr. Bundy thought that, at least initially, the Oversight Committee should concentrate on the Central Intelligence Agency and the National Security Agency. He expressed the view that it would be a mistake to intrude upon the general responsibilities of the committees presently overseeing the other intelligence agencies.

Dear Mr. Kelley:

I am shocked to discover that the Federal Bureau of Investigation has been using members of the clergy to gather information throughout the world, and I would ask you how in the name of reason can the credibility, and the viability of their representative churches be maintained?

As a reasonably observant and aware citizen of the United States, I have for decades been reading of the sinister and nefarious activities of Soviet spies, the general effect of our propaganda to create the impression that most Russians must be suspect. Will not the use of missionaries besmirch and tarnish not only their image, but that of our country? Further, will not such use of clergy make their work appear always suspect, and increase likelihood of bodily injury, kidnapping and blackmail?

Finally, I believe such use of clergy to be a gross violation of the First Amendment principle of separation of church and state, and urge you to terminate all such practices forthwith.

Yours, truly,

Dear Bill:

Thank you for your recent letter. At the time of this writing, you may well be off somewhere on a well-earned vacation trip. I do hope that you enjoy retirement but that it be brought to a conclusion soon through your return to some post within the government. If this not be possible, I hope at least that you continue to contribute as you have for so many years to this wonderful country.

It was a pleasure to work with you, and, frankly, through the acquaintanceship and close cooperation, I had brought vividly to my attention the great skills of CIA and its dedication to the security of this nation. In the capacity of Director you made some wonderful contributions, and I only hope that I can to some measure do the same in my work in the FBI.

On 2/19/76 [redacted] for captioned commission furnished the following information:

He had been contacted by (FNU) [redacted] who described himself as a reporter for the "Washington News Daily." [redacted] sought to verify a story that the Central Intelligence Agency was trying to quash the "State-of-the-Art" study written by Ashby and Associates under contract to the Commission. [redacted] said he told [redacted] that he did not know this to be the case; however, in conversation acknowledged that some material had been deleted from the original draft because it was obscure, verbose, technically inaccurate or merely inappropriate to the study. He also told [redacted] that inasmuch as the final document is intended for public consumption, it contains no classified material. If some of the techniques described in the original draft were adjudged too sensitive by the consultants to the Commission, excision of such material was entirely proper. In response to [redacted] direct question, [redacted] named the consultants, including myself.

[redacted] said he was furnishing this information because he thought it likely that [redacted] would attempt to contact the consultants in furtherance of his story. [redacted] noted that at a recent meeting of the Commission, [redacted] was present under the auspices of Congressman Robert W. Kastenmeier. [redacted] said he expressed disapproval at having outsiders present, but the chairman permitted [redacted] to remain. [redacted] said he cannot discount the possibility that [redacted] may have a copy of an early draft of Ashby's report and is making a comparison between it and later revisions.

Reference is made to memorandum W. R. Wannall to Mr. J. B. Adams, dated 2/18/76, which reported in considerable detail the results of a meeting representatives of the Bureau had with Mr. William Funk, Department of Justice attorney, relating to certain changes the FBI desired to recommend in Section IV of the Executive Order entitled "Responsibilities and Duties of the Intelligence Community."

Incorporated in the President's Executive Order is language that appears to delegate to CIA the authority to clandestinely collect positive foreign intelligence in the United States. CIA has never had this specific authority as we interpret the National Security Act of 1947. Also contained in the language of the Executive Order, and more specifically in the FBI Charter, is the following language. "The Federal Bureau of Investigation shall collect foreign intelligence by lawful means within the United States and its territories at the request of officials of the intelligence community."

It would appear that the above language could be interpreted as meaning the FBI would now have the responsibility for collecting positive foreign intelligence in the United States and complete involvement in the development of intelligence to be used in National Intelligence Estimates.

This memorandum confirms a meeting held on February 18, 1976, between representatives of the FBI and Mr. William Funk of the Department of Justice. This meeting was requested by the FBI for the purpose of recommending certain changes in Section IV of the Executive Order entitled "Responsibilities and Duties of the Intelligence Community," and was arranged through Mr. Jack Fuller of your office.

At the outset of the meeting, Mr. Funk advised that the Executive Order was "in concrete" and much of the drafting of the order had been completed before the Department was made aware of it. Mr. Funk stated that nothing could be done at this late date to change language in the Executive Order. However, he suggested that the FBI immediately begin negotiating with the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) regarding regulations each agency must write in connection with the implementation of the Order. Mr. Funk advised it is his belief the Order will become effective March 1, 1976.

During the course of the meeting with Mr. Funk, the following specific paragraphs in Section IV were discussed:

1. (A) (5) which reads as follows: "Report to the Attorney General information which relates to detection or prevention of possible violations of law by any employee of the senior official's department or agency."

Mr. Funk advised that this paragraph was incorporated into the Executive Order based on a recommendation of the Rockefeller Commission. It is designed to ensure that all agencies of the Government report any violations of law by employees of that agency to the Attorney General. When reminded that the language of the Executive Order included possible violations of local, state or Federal law, Mr. Funk suggested that a refinement would be incorporated in the regulations of each agency to confine the violations to Federal statutes.

2. (B) (2) which reads as follows: "The Central Intelligence Agency shall develop and conduct programs to collect political, economic, scientific, technical, military, geographic, and sociological information not otherwise obtainable relating to foreign intelligence in accordance with directive of the National Security Council."

Mr. Funk, when questioned, advised that the phrase "not otherwise obtainable" is synonymous with clandestine. In other words, the Executive Order authorizes CIA to clandestinely gather positive foreign intelligence in the United States. This is so inasmuch as the definition of foreign intelligence, as contained in Section V of the Executive Order, defines foreign intelligence as being within or outside the United States.

When it was pointed out to Mr. Funk that this would permit CIA to become operational in the United States, he readily admitted the point. It was made clear to Mr. Funk that the Bureau did not object to CIA engaging in the clandestine collection of positive foreign intelligence in the United States but would insist that it could be only done providing there was prior coordination in each instance with the FBI. It was agreed that a prior coordination clause is necessary and should be addressed during CIA's development of implementing regulations. Mr. Funk suggested that the Bureau immediately get together with [redacted]

3. (B) (4) which reads as follows: "CIA shall conduct foreign counterintelligence activities outside the United States and in coordination with the FBI within the United States subject to the approval of the Attorney General."

Mr. Funk noted that during negotiations he insisted on the Attorney General's approval being sought for any foreign counterintelligence activity conducted by CIA in the United States. Mr. Funk was reminded that there is a current understanding between FBI and CIA dated February, 1966, which allows for this coordination and that for the FBI or CIA to go to the Attorney General on each occasion for approval would burden the Attorney General with a considerable amount of day-to-day operational decisions. Mr. Funk felt that the implementing regulations for the FBI should cover this fact and some language should be prepared suggesting that the Attorney General's approval would only be obtained in the absence of an agreement reached between the FBI and CIA on each individual activity.

4. (G) (3) which reads as follows: "The Federal Bureau of Investigation shall collect foreign intelligence by lawful means within the

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

The Attorney General

United States and its territories at the request of officials of the intelligence community."

Mr. Funk advised that this provision was inserted into the Executive Order at the last minute on Saturday, February 14, 1976, by CIA. Mr. Funk concurred with the FBI representatives that the language could be interpreted as meaning the FBI would now have responsibility for collecting positive foreign intelligence in the United States which would mean the FBI's complete involvement in the development of national intelligence estimates. Mr. Funk stated that you were opposed to this interpretation even though it was felt CIA was a proponent of the interpretation. Mr. Funk stated that it is your intention in developing guidelines for the FBI to ensure that the FBI cannot be requested to fulfill this positive foreign intelligence collection mission without your approval, and further, it is also your intention to restrict the FBI's role in the collection of positive foreign intelligence to a support mission.

In addition, Mr. Funk advised that the FBI will be invited to participate in developing implementing regulations affecting it. He suggested that the Bureau be very careful to ensure that its position is fully protected during the development of these regulations.

Steps have been taken to arrange immediate consultation with CIA in an effort to incorporate language within that Agency's regulations making it mandatory that

This memorandum reports the results of a meeting representatives of the Bureau had with Mr. William Funk, Department of Justice attorney. Those Bureau representatives attending the meeting were Inspector-Deputy Assistant Director Thomas W. Leavitt and Section Chief William O. Cregar of the Intelligence Division and Inspector [redacted] Legal Counsel Division.

b7C

The purpose of the meeting, requested by Bureau representatives, was to recommend certain changes in the attached draft of Section IV of the Executive Order entitled "Responsibilities and Duties of the Intelligence Community." It is to be noted that representatives of the Intelligence Division had been trying to contact Assistant Attorney General Antonin Scalia since Friday, 2/13/76, in an effort to convey what changes the Bureau desired to make in Section IV. Not having received any response from Mr. Scalia, arrangements were made through Jack Fuller of the Attorney General's office on the morning of 2/18/76 to see Mr. Funk.

At the outset of the conversation, Mr. Funk advised that the Executive Order is "in concrete" and will probably be issued on the afternoon of 2/18/76. He noted that much of the drafting of this Executive Order was completed before Departmental representatives were invited to attend. The first meeting Funk attended for the Department was last Thursday, 2/12/76. In response to a specific question, Funk advised that CIA was represented at these meetings by Mitchel Rogovin. Upon being advised that the Bureau had certain reservations regarding the language of Section IV of the Executive Order, Mr. Funk stated that nothing could be done at this late date to change language in the Executive Order. However, he suggested that the FBI immediately begin negotiating with CIA regarding regulations each agency must write in connection with the implementation of the Executive Order. Funk believes the Executive Order will be effective 3/1/76.

The Executive Order will be made up of various sections including a section on the creation of a new Foreign Intelligence Committee chaired by the Director of Central Intelligence, George Bush (the President alluded to this Committee in his press conference during the evening of 2/17/76), and a section on the creation of an Oversight Board (also alluded to by the President on the evening of 2/17/76).

Section V of the Executive Order, also attached, is entitled "Restrictions." It clearly spells out what each agency in the foreign intelligence community is restricted from doing. The FBI is specifically excluded from Section V of the Executive Order. According to Funk, restrictions placed on the FBI will be incorporated in the guidelines developed by the Attorney General for FBI investigations.

In the course of our meeting with Funk, the following paragraphs in Section IV were discussed:

It was made clear to Mr. Funk that the Bureau did not object to CIA engaging in the clandestine collection of positive foreign intelligence in the United States but would insist that it could be only done providing there was prior coordination in each instance with the FBI. Funk realized that he had inadvertently failed to insist on this prior coordination clause but felt it could be rectified during CIA's development of implementing regulations. He suggested that the Bureau immediately get together with Rogovin, to ensure that CIA wrote such prior coordination with the FBI into their regulations. In the event, Rogovin or CIA refuses to incorporate this into their regulations, Funk suggested FBI representatives get in touch with him.

Funk concurred with the FBI representatives that the language could be interpreted as meaning the FBI would now have responsibility for collecting positive foreign intelligence in the United States which would mean the FBI's complete involvement in the development of national intelligence estimates. Both Funk and the Attorney General were opposed to this interpretation even though Funk believed CIA was a proponent of the interpretation. Funk stated that he appealed to the Attorney General on Saturday to have this provision removed from the Executive Order. Although the Attorney General agreed with Funk, he was reluctant to call the President and recommend its deletion. It is the Attorney General's intention in developing guidelines for the FBI to ensure that the FBI cannot be requested to fulfill this positive foreign intelligence collection mission without his approval and that it is his intention to restrict the FBI's role in the collection of positive foreign intelligence to a support mission.

OBSERVATIONS:

It is apparent that the Bureau has had little to no voice in the promulgation of this Executive Order. As a matter of fact, it appears the Department was only a last minute participant in the development of the Executive Order. According to Funk, the Bureau will be invited to participate in developing implementing regulations for the FBI and we should be very careful to ensure that the Bureau's position is fully protected during the development of these regulations. Additionally, it is apparent that we must arrange to immediately get together with CIA to ensure that regulations written for that Agency make mandatory prior coordination with this Bureau regarding any CIA operational activity they intend to engage in in the United States.

SECTION IV - RESPONSIBILITIES AND DUTIES OF THE INTELLIGENCE COMMUNITY

(A) Senior Officials of the Intelligence Community

The senior officials of the CIA, Departments of State, Treasury and Defense, ERDA and the ^{FBI} ~~NSA~~ shall insure that in discharging the duties and responsibilities enumerated for their organizations which relate to foreign intelligence, they are responsive to the needs of the President, the NSC and other elements of the U.S. Government. In carrying out their duties and responsibilities, senior officials shall insure that all policies and directives relating to intelligence activities are carried out in accordance with law and this Order, including Section V, and shall:

- (1) Make appropriate use of the capabilities of the other elements of the Intelligence Community in order to achieve maximum efficiency.
- (2) Contribute in areas of his responsibility to the national intelligence products produced under auspices of the Director of Central Intelligence.
- (3) Establish internal policies and guidelines governing employee conduct and insuring that such are made known to, and acknowledged by, each employee.
- (4) Provide for a strong and independent organization for identification and inspection of, and reporting on, unauthorized activity.

(5) Report to the Justice Department information which relates to detection ^{or} prevention of ^{possible} violations of law by any person, including an employee of the senior official's department or agency.

(6) Furnish to the Director of Central Intelligence, the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board, and the Intelligence Oversight Board all of the information required for the performance of their respective duties.

(7) Participate, as appropriate, in the provision of services of common concern as directed by the DCI and provide other departments and agencies with such mutual assistance as may be within his capabilities and as may be required in the interests of the Intelligence Community for reasons of economy, effectiveness, or operational necessity.

(8) Protect intelligence and intelligence sources and methods within his department or agency, consistent with policies and guidance of the Director of Central Intelligence.

(9) Conduct a continuing review of all classified material originating within his organization and promptly declassifying such material consistent with Executive Order 11652.

(10) Provide administrative and support functions required by his department or agency.

(B) The Central Intelligence Agency

All duties and responsibilities of the Central Intelligence Agency shall be related to the foreign intelligence functions outlined below. As authorized by the National Security Act of 1947, the CIA Act of 1949, the Central Intelligence Agency shall:

(1) Produce and disseminate foreign intelligence relating to the national security, including foreign political, economic, scientific, technical, military sociological, and geographic intelligence, to meet the needs of the President, the National Security Council, and other elements of the United States Government.

(2) Develop and conduct ① (clandestine) programs to collect political, economic, scientific, technical, military, geographic, and sociological information ② (not otherwise obtainable) relating to foreign intelligence, in accordance with directives of the National Security Council.

(3) Collect and produce intelligence on foreign aspects of international terrorist activities and traffic in narcotics.

(4) Conduct foreign counterintelligence activities

~~① (1) ②~~ outside the United States and in coordination with the FBI, within the U.S., subject to the (approval of the)

Attorney General.

(5) Carry out ① (such other special activities in support of national foreign policy objectives)

② (covert actions) as may be directed by the President or the National Security Council and which are within the limits of applicable law.

(6) Conduct, for the Intelligence Community, services of common concern as directed by the National Security Council, such as monitoring of foreign public radio and television broadcasts and foreign press services, collection of foreign intelligence information from cooperating sources in the United States, acquisition and translation of foreign publications and photographic interpretation.

(7) Carry out or contract for research, development and procurement of technical systems and devices relating to the functions authorized in this section.

(8) Protect the security of its installations, activities, information and personnel. In order to maintain this security, the CIA shall also conduct such investigations of applicants, employees, and other persons associated with CIA as are necessary.

(9) Conduct administrative, technical and support activities in the United States or abroad as may be necessary to perform the functions described in paragraphs (1) - (8) above, including procurement, maintenance and transport; communications and data processing; recruitment and training; the provision of personnel, financial and medical services; development of essential cover and proprietary arrangements; entering into contracts and arrangements with appropriate private companies and institutions to provide classified or unclassified research analytical and developmental services and specialized expertise; and entering into similar arrangements with academic institutions, provided CIA sponsorship is known to the appropriate senior officials of the institutions and to senior project officials.

(C) The Department of State

The Secretary of State shall:

- (1) Collect overtly foreign political, political-military, sociological, economic, scientific, technical and associated biographic information.
 - (2) Produce and disseminate foreign intelligence relating to U.S. foreign policy as required for the execution of his responsibilities and in support of policy-makers involved in foreign relations within the U.S. Government.

(3) Disseminate within the U.S. Government as appropriate reporting from U.S. Diplomatic missions abroad.

(4) Coordinate with the DCI to ensure that U.S. intelligence activities and programs are useful for and consistent with U.S. foreign policy.

(5) Transmit reporting requirements of the Intelligence Community to our Chiefs of Missions abroad and provide guidance for their collection effort.

(6) Contribute to the Intelligence Community guidance for its collection of intelligence based on the needs of those responsible for foreign policy decisions.

(7) Support Chiefs of Missions in discharging their responsibilities to direct and coordinate the activities of all elements of their missions.

(D) The Department of the Treasury

The Secretary of the Treasury shall:

(1) Collect overtly foreign financial and monetary information.

(2) Participate with the Department of State in the overt collection of general economic information.

(3) Produce that intelligence required for the execution of the Secretary's interdepartmental responsibilities and the mission of the Department of the Treasury.

(4) Contribute intelligence and guidance required for the development of national intelligence.

(5) Disseminate within the U.S. Government, as appropriate, foreign intelligence information acquired.

Nothing in this Order shall be construed to interfere with the law enforcement responsibilities of the Department of Treasury.

(E) Department of Defense

The Secretary of Defense shall:

(1) Collect foreign military intelligence information as well as military-related foreign intelligence information, including scientific, technical, political and economic information as required for the execution of his responsibilities.

(2) Produce and disseminate, as appropriate, intelligence emphasizing foreign military capabilities and intentions and scientific, technical and economic developments pertinent to his responsibilities.

(3) Conduct such programs and missions necessary to fulfill national intelligence requirements as determined by the Director of Central Intelligence.

(4) Direct, fund and operate the National Security Agency, and national, defense and military intelligence and reconnaissance entities as required.

(5) Conduct, as the executive agent of the U.S. Government, signals intelligence activities and communications security.

(6) Provide for the timely transmission of critical intelligence, as defined by the DCI, within the U.S. Government.

In carrying out these assigned responsibilities, the Secretary of Defense is authorized to utilize the following:

(1) The Defense Intelligence Agency (whose functions, authorities and responsibilities are currently publicly assigned by Department of Defense Directive No.

5105.21) to:

- (a) Produce or provide military intelligence for the Secretary of Defense, the Joint Chiefs of Staff, other Defense components, and, as appropriate, non-Defense agencies.
 - (b) Coordinate all Department of Defense intelligence collection requirements and manage the Defense Attache system.
 - (c) Establish substantive intelligence priority goals and objectives for the Department of Defense and provide guidance on substantive intelligence matters to all major Defense intelligence activities.
 - (d) Approve and maintain cognizance over all plans, policies and procedures for noncryptologic intelligence functions of the Department of Defense.
 - (e) Provide intelligence staff support to the Joint Chiefs of Staff.
- (2) The National Security Agency, whose functions, authorities and responsibilities shall include:
- (a) Establishment and operation of an effective unified organization for the signals intelligence activities of the United States Government, except for certain operations which are normally exercised through appropriate elements of the military command structure.

(b) Exercise control over signals intelligence collection and processing activities of the Government, delegating to an appropriate agent specified resources for such periods and tasks as required for the direct support of military commanders.

c. Collection, processing and dissemination of signals intelligence in accordance with objectives, requirements, and priorities established by the Director of Central Intelligence, in consultation with the United States Intelligence Board.

d. Dissemination of requested signals intelligence to all authorized elements of the Government, including the Armed Services.

e. Serving under the Secretary of Defense as the central communications security authority of the Government.

f. Conduct of research and development to meet the needs of the United States for signals intelligence and communications security.

3. Special offices for the collection of specialized intelligence through reconnaissance programs, whose functions, authorities, and responsibilities shall include: (responsive to the PIC)

a. Carrying out consolidated programs for reconnaissance (including overhead reconnaissance)

b. Assigning responsibility to the various departments and agencies of the Government, according to their capabilities, for the research, development, procurement, operations and control of designated means of collection. ~~Operation of supporting facilities and activities, as may be required to carry out the approved collection programs, will be undertaken in accordance with existing directives.~~

4. Such other offices within the Department of Defense as shall be deemed appropriate for conduct of the intelligence missions and responsibilities assigned to the Secretary of Defense.

~~C. The Department of Defense shall conduct all assigned intelligence activities in accordance with the provisions of Section V of this Executive Order.~~

(F) Energy Research and Development Administration

The Energy Research and Development Administrator shall:

- (1) Produce intelligence required for the execution of his responsibilities and the mission of ERDA, including the area of nuclear and atomic energy.
- (2) Disseminate such intelligence and provide technical and analytical expertise to other Intelligence Community organizations and be responsive to the guidance of the Director of Central Intelligence and the Committee on Foreign Intelligence.
- (3) Participate with other Intelligence Community agencies and departments in formulating collection requirements where its special technical expertise can contribute to such collection requirements.

(G) The Federal Bureau of Investigation

Under the supervision of the Attorney General and pursuant to such regulations as he may establish, the Director of the FBI shall:

(1) Detect and prevent espionage, sabotage, subversion, and other unlawful activities by or on behalf of foreign powers through such lawful counterintelligence operations within the United States, including electronic surveillance, as are necessary or useful for such purposes.

(2) Conduct within the United States and its territories, when requested by officials of the Intelligence Community designated by the President, those lawful activities, including electronic surveillance, authorized by the President and specifically approved by the AG, to be undertaken in support of the foreign intelligence collection requirements of other intelligence agencies.

(3) (Collect foreign intelligence by lawful means within the U.S. and ~~its territories~~ ^{at the request of officials of the Intelligence Community.} ~~Intelligence Community.~~)

(4) Disseminate, as appropriate, foreign intelligence and counterintelligence information which it acquires to appropriate Federal agencies, State and local law enforcement agencies and cooperating foreign governments.

(5) Carry out or contract for research, development and procurement of technical systems and devices relating to the functions authorized above.

Nothing in this Order shall be construed to interfere with other law enforcement responsibilities of the FBI.

Restrictions Executive Order

RECEIVED

OFFICE OF LEGAL COUNSEL

Attached is the retyped final version of the restrictions order. The only change included which was not agreed on at yesterday's meeting is the insertion of the words "even if acquired by means other than those prohibited above" in Section II (g). These were included at the insistence of the Attorney General. In my view, they only say explicitly what the effect of II (g) would have been without them.

If you object to the new words, please call Nino Scalia to discuss the matter. If you still object after talking with Mr. Scalia, please advise me by memo as soon as possible, stating briefly the reason for your objection.

EXECUTIVE ORDER

Information about the capabilities, intentions and activities of other governments is essential to informed decision-making in the field of national defense and foreign relations. The measures employed to acquire such information should be responsive to the legitimate needs of our Government and must be conducted in a manner which preserves and respects our established concepts of privacy and our civil liberties.

Recent events have clearly indicated the desirability of government-wide direction which will ensure a proper balancing of these interests. This order does not confer any authority not included, and does not derogate from any restrictions included, in any other laws, regulations or directives. Unless otherwise specified, the provisions of this Order apply to activities both inside and outside the United States. References to law are to applicable laws of the United States.

By virtue of the authority vested in me as President pursuant to my powers under Article II, Sections 2 and 3 of the Constitution, and statutes of the United States, including the National Security Act of 1947, and finding such actions necessary in the national interest, it is hereby ordered as follows:

SECTION I: Definitions.

As used in this Order, the following terms shall have the meanings ascribed to them below:

(a) "Collection" means any one or more of the gathering, analysis, dissemination or storage of non-publicly available information without the informed express consent of the subject of the information.

(b) "Electronic surveillance" means acquisition of a non-public communication by electronic means, without the consent of a person who is a party to, or, in the case of a non-electronic communication, visibly present at, the communication.

(c) "Employee" means a person employed by, assigned or detailed to, or acting for a United States foreign intelligence agency.

(d) "Foreign intelligence" means information concerning the capabilities, intentions and activities of any foreign power, or of any non-United States person, whether within or outside the United States, or concerning areas outside the United States.

(e) "Counterintelligence" means information concerning the protection from detection or disclosure of foreign intelligence or of national security information and its collection.

(f) "Foreign intelligence agency" means the Central Intelligence Agency, National Security Agency, Defense Intelligence Agency; and further includes any other department or agency of the United States Government or component thereof while it is engaged in the collection of foreign intelligence or counterintelligence, but shall not include any such department, agency or component thereof to the extent that it is engaged in its authorized civil or criminal law enforcement functions; nor shall it include in any case the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

(g) "National security information" has the meaning ascribed to it in E. O. 11652.

(h) "Physical surveillance" means continuing visual observation by any means; or acquisition of a non-public communication by a person not a party thereto or visibly present threat through any means which does not involve electronic surveillance.

(i) "United States persons" means United States citizens, aliens admitted to the United States for permanent residence and corporations or other organizations incorporated or organized in the United States.

SECTION II. Restrictions on Collection.

Foreign intelligence agencies shall not engage in any of the following activities:

(a) Physical surveillance directed against a United States person, except a lawful surveillance both conducted pursuant to procedures approved by the head of the foreign intelligence agency and directed against either:

(1) a present or former employee of such agency, its present or former contractors or their present or former employees, for the purpose of protecting foreign intelligence or counterintelligence sources or methods or national security information from unauthorized disclosure; or

(2) a United States person, who is in contact with either such a present or former contractor or employee or with a non-United States person who is the subject of a foreign intelligence or counterintelligence inquiry, but only to the extent necessary to identify such United States person; or

(3) a United States person outside the United States who is reasonably believed to be acting on behalf of a foreign power or engaging in international terrorist or narcotics activities or activities threatening the national security.

(b) Electronic surveillance involving a communication which is made from, or is intended by the sender to be received in, the United States, or directed against United States persons abroad, except lawful electronic surveillance under procedures approved by the Attorney General; provided that the Central Intelligence Agency shall not perform electronic surveillance within the United States, except for the purpose of testing equipment under procedures approved by the Attorney General consistent with law.

(c) Unconsented physical searches within the United States; or unconsented physical searches directed against United States persons abroad, except lawful searches under procedures approved by the Attorney General;

(d) Opening of mail or examination of envelopes of mail in United States Postal channels except in accordance with applicable statutes and regulations.

(e) Examination of Federal tax returns or tax information except in accordance applicable statutes and regulations.

(f) Infiltration or undisclosed participation within the United States in any organization for the purpose of reporting on or influencing its activities or members; except such infiltration or participation with respect to an organization composed primarily of non-United States persons which is reasonably believed to be acting on behalf of a foreign power.

(g) Collection of information, ^{however} ~~even if acquired by means other than those prohibited above~~, concerning the domestic activities of United States persons except:

(1) Information concerning corporations or other commercial organizations which constitutes foreign intelligence or counterintelligence.

(2) Information concerning present or former employees, present or former contractors or their present or former employees, or applicants for any such employment or contracting, necessary to protect foreign intelligence or counterintelligence sources or methods or national security information from unauthorized disclosure; and the identity of persons in contact with the foregoing or with a non-United States person who is the subject of a foreign intelligence or counterintelligence inquiry.

(3) Information concerning persons who are reasonably believed to be potential sources or contacts, but only for the purpose of determining the suitability or credibility of such persons.

(4) Foreign intelligence or counterintelligence gathered abroad or from electronic surveillance conducted in compliance with Section II (b); or foreign intelligence acquired from cooperating sources in the United States.

(5) Information about a United States person who is reasonably believed to be acting on behalf of a foreign power or engaging in international terrorist or narcotics activities.

(6) Information concerning persons or activities that pose a clear threat to foreign intelligence agency facilities or personnel, provided that such information is retained only by the foreign intelligence agency threatened and that proper coordination with the Federal Bureau of Investigation is accomplished.

SECTION III. Dissemination and Storage

Nothing in this Order shall prohibit:

(a) Lawful dissemination to the appropriate law enforcement agencies of incidentally gathered information indicating involvement in activities which may be in violation of law.

- (b) Storage of information required by law to be retained.
- (c) Dissemination to foreign intelligence agencies of information of the subject matter types listed in Section II (g).

SECTION IV. Restrictions on Experimentation.

Foreign intelligence agencies shall not engage in experimentation with drugs on human subjects, except with the informed consent, in writing and witnessed by a disinterested third party, of each such human subject and in accordance with the guidelines issued by the National Commission for the Protection of Human Subjects for Biomedical and Behavioral Research.

SECTION V. Assistance to Law Enforcement Authorities.

No foreign intelligence agency shall, except as expressly authorized by law:

- (a) Provide services, equipment, personnel or facilities to the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration or to State or local police organizations of the United States.

SECTION 1.1. Implementation.

This order shall be effective on March 1, 1976. Each department and agency affected by this order shall promptly issue internal directives to implement this Order with respect to its foreign intelligence operations.

TO : Mr. T. W. Leavitt for

FROM : W. O. Cregar WOC

SUBJECT: CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY (CIA)
REQUEST FOR BUREAU SPEAKER
APRIL 7, 1976

PURPOSE:

Purpose of this memorandum is to recommend that Inspector William O. Cregar, Counterintelligence Branch, Intelligence Division, and the Bureau's alternate member of the U. S. Intelligence Board be authorized to appear before [redacted] on 4/7/76 between the hours of 2:15 p. m., and 3:15 p. m. (c)

SYNOPSIS:

(c) [redacted] telephonically inquired if Inspector Cregar could speak before a CIA group 4/7/76.

RECOMMENDATION:

If approved, Mr. Cregar will handle the lecture and telephonically advise [redacted] of his acceptance. (c)

DETAILS:

Over the past four years Inspector Cregar has appeared bi-monthly before [redacted]. The lecture is confined to a presentation of the Bureau's structure as well as its jurisdiction and investigative responsibilities in the foreign counterintelligence field. During the lecture the Bureau's role in the intelligence community and more specifically the part it plays on the U. S. Intelligence Board is delineated. The formal presentation is followed by a question and answer period.

Over the years our appearance before [redacted]
[redacted] has proven useful in that it clarifies for CIA personnel misconceptions concerning the Bureau's jurisdiction as well as what specific responsibilities the Bureau has in the foreign counterintelligence field.
